

Information No. 36 Introduction of the simulation calculator for your insurance benefits (PK/S.Live)

Dear insured persons

We are delighted to announce you the activation of the simulation calculator for your insurance benefits PK/S.Live. The simulator allows actively insured persons to calculate the effects of various scenarios on their contributions and future benefits on the basis of current insurance data. For example, you can simulate the potential effects of changing to another savings plan, or calculate the impact of voluntary purchases or an early withdrawal to finance residential property (WEF). You can also calculate your old-age benefits in case of (early) retirement. The application is easy to use – why not give it a try?

On our website www.pgg.pfs-service.ch you find the redirection to the simulation calculator. There you will find two shortcuts: Insurees, who are also insured under the additional main plan, select depending on their intention the shortcut to the main or to the additional main plan.

With the following URLs you reach directly the simulation calculators:

Main plan <https://pfs.pks-live.ch/pgg>

Additional main plan <https://pfs.pks-live.ch/pggz>

After that you reach the login page:

Simulation calculator Help

The simulation calculator allows working insurees to calculate the effects of business cases on their contributions and future benefits on the basis of current insurance data.

You need your insurance number and password to log in. - both can be found on your statement of benefits. The insurance number with your personal details, the password is printed in the footer at the bottom right.

For more detailed explanations, please click 'Help'.

I have my login data..

Insurance number:

Password:

I want to enter my data manually... (for new entries only)

Important instructions for use:

- The simulation results are generally output as PDF documents. For this you need a software for displaying PDF documents.
- The following browsers are supported:
 - Microsoft Internet Explorer 9 oder höher
 - Mozilla Firefox
 - Google Chrome

All relevant login information can be found on the statement of benefits. You will need your insurance number and the password which can be found in the bottom right-hand corner of the statement of benefits (alphanumeric series of data, fine print). Please note that the information in the simulation calculator refers to your personal current vested benefits and insurance benefits. Please handle therefore the login information with prudence.

For any questions either regarding the simulation calculator or your personal pension situation in general, please contact Mr. Filippo Abate, your customer advisor.

Tommy Foehn
President

Pascal Monn
Director